

In August, 1932, Edna Loomis received her Master of Arts degree from Pennsylvania State College. Her Master's thesis on Lord Chesterfield was typed by her niece, Helen Loomis (Russell) Powell. Shown on the following four pages is a note written by ELL to HLRP as the thesis was being typed. This unusual communication is shown here for two reasons:

- 1) it illustrates the painstaking and meticulous aspect of ELL's personality and work;
- 2) it clearly shows the entirely positive, empathic and optimistic aspect of ELL's personality and work.
